

Harry on the High Sea, Page 1

The waves splashed against the ship. Is there a storm blowing in?

Harry thought. Captain Joan came up and gave the signal that a storm was coming. Harry rushed with his best friend John. They both hated storms.

When Harry climbed to his bunk, He saw a note that said, Made you look!!!

He knew that It was from John. I'll get back at him tomorrow, he thought.

The next day early in the morning, Harry was ready he dropped his toy ball on top of John. John screamed. "Made you scream," Harry called. Then they started laughing their heads off.

"I'm getting seasick," John complained. "I'm tired of being on the ship," Harry replied. They had been on the ship for two months. As they got their dinner they heard someone yell. They had found land!!! Harry started cheering, he had never been so happy in his life.