

Hi my name is Alison I have red hair and blue berry colored eyes. My favorite color is blue and I live at 6342 Pine Street, near the local zoo. I love animals! in all sorts and sizes but my best friend Suzy hates animals! Suzy has black hair and her eyes are as brown as a tiny cute light brown cat. Her favorite colors are pink, hot pink and purple and I think you got the point. I wish she would just let it go and love animals. But I am not her and I can't just say she just has to love animals. She thinks animals are fuzzy, gross little things! All I know is someday i hope that she will learn to love animals.

Today is Sunday, a no school day, and Suzy said she will meet me at the park. I live in New York and my apartment is near the park. When I got to the park, Suzy was no where to be found! I looked everywhere but I couldn't find her! Then in a few seconds she came with a frown on her face. I looked at her and asked what was wrong. She looked at me with teary but mad eyes. "What's wrong WHATS WRONG!" she said "EVERYTHING!" At first I didn't get it but then I knew. "Did your mom get a pet?" I asked. "Yes." Suzy said in a very, very soft voice so I almost couldn't hear her. "I'm sorry," I said to my friend.

Later that night, when it got dark we went to bed and slept. "YAWN!" said Alison as she woke up. "Mom, Dad!" said Alison "Can I go to the zoo with Suzy?" "Yes dear," said her mom. Then Alison went to the zoo, and Suzy was already there. They looked around. Suzy did not like it at all. First, they saw a monkey with a hat and a rug. Then in a few seconds they were in the cage. "Wow! That is an awesome monkey!" cooed Alison. "Yea right!" shouted Suzy. Just then they hopped on the rug for a closer look. Well only Alison jumped on. "Come on Suzy, come closer please" Alison begged. Suzy replied, "Fine! But, only because you want me too." Then they thought they saw the rug fly off the ground, and they did. "Wow! but, but how?" asked Alison. "I don't know" answered

Suzy. They flew and flew and flew. The monkey flew the rug and then showed Suzy animal life. "Ouuuu!! that is a baby tiger?" asked Suzy. "I didn't know they where so cute!" "oh oh ah ah!" said the monkey and showed her a tiny bunny. "Ouuuu!" Suzy said again. Then the rug stopped and Alison, Suzy, and the monkey fell. "AAAAHH!"

Alison woke up and soon realized, "Phew," it was just a dream.

THE END